Session 1: Primary production, competition and investment

VENUE: Main conference centre auditorium

8.30am	Primary production is GROWING SA The food and wine industries were valued at $18.64 billion in 2015-16 and the grains and livestock industries are an integral part of this figure – and a cornerstone of South Australia's economy. As leader of Primary Producers SA, the state's overarching cross-commodity organisation, Rob Kerin will set the scene for the day's sessions by outlining the industry's priorities for the 2018 election, where action is needed and what are some of the key issues that must be overcome to ensure agriculture's continued growth and success.	Rob Kerin Executive Chairman Primary Producers SA
9.10am	Creating an efficient and competitive agricultural sector Mick Keogh was appointed as the ACCC's first agricultural commissioner in 2016 to identify competition and trade issues in the industry. After nearly 18 months in the role, he will outline his views on issues constraining agriculture and what needs to change, such as 'right to farm' issues, competition policy and supermarket powers, free trade agreements and data access in rural areas.	Mick Keogh Executive Director of the Australian Farm Institute and Commissioner, Australian Competition and Consumer Commission
9.50am	Funding a bright and competitive future for agriculture Duxton manages or advises assets of approximately $US700 million, of which $US460 million are agricultural investments. Ed Peter will provide insight into why agriculture is a shining light for investment, alternative funding models for farm ownership, whether or not foreign investment is good for Australia, appreciating land values and where the next big gains will come from in farm business management. Duxton is also managing the progress toward securing investment and production support for the Lucky Bay port facility on Eyre Peninsula.	Ed Peter Co-founder and Chairman, Duxton Asset Management
